

107TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 1825

To amend the Electronic Fund Transfer Act to safeguard consumers in connection with the utilization of certain debit cards.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MAY 14, 2001

Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Financial Services

A BILL

To amend the Electronic Fund Transfer Act to safeguard consumers in connection with the utilization of certain debit cards.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Consumer Debit Card
5 Protection Act”.

6 SEC. 2. CONGRESSIONAL FINDINGS.

7 The Congress finds the following:

8 (1) There has been a recent trend toward
9 issuing debit cards which can be used like credit
10 cards, largely as replacements for debit cards which

1 could be used only with a personal identification
2 number at automated teller machines and a limited
3 number of retail establishments.

4 (2) Many times, debit cards that can be used
5 like credit cards have been issued without providing
6 adequate disclosure that—

7 (A) the card may be used to initiate an
8 electronic fund transfer without the use of a
9 personal identification number or similar code
10 or means of access; and

11 (B) even though the card may carry a logo
12 associated with credit cards, the card is not a
13 credit card and the consumer may bear a sig-
14 nificantly larger liability for an unauthorized
15 transaction involving such debit card than
16 would be the case for a similar unauthorized
17 transaction involving a credit card.

18 (3) Thus, millions of Americans are—

19 (A) receiving cards in a form they didn't 20 request; and

21 (B) are carrying such cards around with
22 them—

23 (i) without realizing that the cards
24 have an expanded capability without the
25 protections against unauthorized transfers

1 which are typical of cards issued to make
2 cash withdrawals from automated teller
3 machines; and

4 (ii) without fully appreciating the
5 risks associated with such cards.

6 (4) Economic stimulation would be enhanced
7 and competition among the various financial institu-
8 tions and other companies which issue debit cards
9 would be strengthened by the informed use of debit
10 cards by consumers.

11 SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

12 Section 903 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15
13 U.S.C. 1693a) is amended—

14 (1) by striking “and” at the end of paragraph
15 (10);

16 (2) by striking the period at the end of para-
17 graph (11) and inserting a semicolon; and

18 (3) by adding at the end the following new
19 paragraphs:

20 “(12) ATM CARD.—The term ‘ATM card’
21 means any card issued by a financial institution for
22 use in initiating electronic fund transfers at auto-
23 mated teller machines and other electronic terminals
24 which requires a code or other unique form of identi-

1 fication (other than a signature) in order to access
2 the account of the consumer; and

3 “(13) CHECK CARD.—The term ‘check card’
4 means any card issued by a financial institution for
5 use in initiating electronic fund transfers from the 6 account of a consumer which does not require the 7 protection of a code or other means of access that
8 uniquely identifies the consumer (and for purposes
9 of this paragraph, a signature shall not be treated
10 as a means of access which uniquely identifies the 11 consumer).”.

12 SEC. 4. CHECK CARD REQUIREMENT.

13 Section 911 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15
14 U.S.C. 1693i) is amended by adding at the end the fol-
15 lowing new subsection:
